We buried Abraham Lincoln
And John Kennedy,
But we did not bury their dreams
or their visions.

They are our dreams and our visions
today,
For President Lincoln
And John Kennedy
Moved toward those nobler dreams
And those larger visions
Where the needs of the people dwell.

We, the class of 1964, with the memory of his martyrdom fresh in our minds, dedicate this LEGEND to the memory of John F. Kennedy.

Dear Graduates:

On the twenty-fifth anniversary of our school, may I welcome you to the ever-growing ranks of Lafayette graduates and alumni. Since 1939 approximately twenty thousand students have received diplomas from us. Wherever you go you will find our young men and women distinguishing themselves in business, the professions, the arts, and in political and civic affairs. I hope that you, too, will in the years to come add to the lustre of Lafayette's name by your conduct and your deeds.

The class of 1964 is faced by a world quite different from that which confronted the first graduating class of our school. What with space travel, jet planes, automation and the rivalry between competing economic and political systems, you will witness changes and meet problems hitherto unknown to man. What concerns me most is how you will face these new developments. Will your hearts and minds possess the flexibility, the intelligence and the character to meet the challenges created by these changes, or will you be overcome, confused and frightened by them? Will you select from your experiences that which is good and enduring and reject that which is worthless?

We at Lafayette have tried to give you the kind of training and education that will help you face the future with courage and understanding. It is my hope that, as you move forward, you will not forget the ideals and values representative of the best in our school.

May the future bring you much personal happiness and great success!

Cordially

Dear Graduates:

It gives us great pleasure to congratulate you boys and girls of the class of June, 1964, on this happy occasion. You have the honor of being the silver anniversary class of Lafayette, as well as the largest in its history. You epitomize Thomas Jefferson's great American dream of a richer and greater America through universal education. You represent the promise and the fulfillment of that dream. Our statesmen realized then, as they do now, that education is the fountainhead of real democracy for all peoples and all races.

Lafayette has been the anvil on which you have tested your talents, skills, interests, and hopes. Tempered and matured by the lessons you have learned in and out of the classroom, you are better prepared for the challenge and for the struggle that awaits you outside these walls.

We have faith that you young people will be in the vanguard of those who will endeavor to make your home and family, your community and country, places where warmth, friendship, and good-will prevail. We are about to reach into other worlds in science and technology. Yet, our world can use a little more tolerance and understanding; a little less violence and greed; a little more intelligence and culture; a little less ignorance and apathy.

Wherever you go from here, you carry with you our best wishes for a life of happiness.

Sincerely,

HELEN BLICKER

Lafayette's Silver Anniversary

For twenty-five years, Lafayette High School has succeeded in holding its proud facade far above "sinking level" in the rather dangerous swamps of Bensonhurst and the world.

Although some will deny that history repeats itself, certain parallels are obvious in the history of Lafayette.

In the area of jokes, students in 1939 showed the same enthusiasm for "sick jokes" as students in 1964 display in their enjoyment of "elephant jokes."

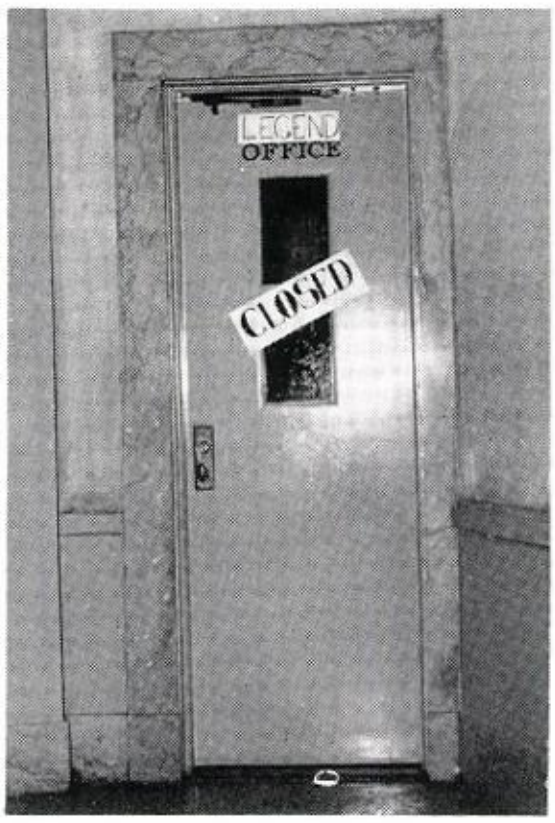
While Lafayette theater-goers in the early '40's idolized Eugene O'Neill, today's theater-goers dismiss him as being quite "derriere-garde" and are turning toward Edward Albee, writer of such avant-garde plays as THE ZOO STORY and THE AMERICAN DREAM. (Not that this preference is an indication of any significant change in the students themselves.)

In the 1940's, a Mr. Milton Novak was teaching at Lafayette. While the school has no teacher of that name in the '60's, many students will always remember how much they enjoyed watching the popular television program, MR. NOVAK. This program features the adventures of a young high school teacher, and many Lafayette students identified Mr. Novak with some of this school's handsome, intellectual, and mature pedagogues.

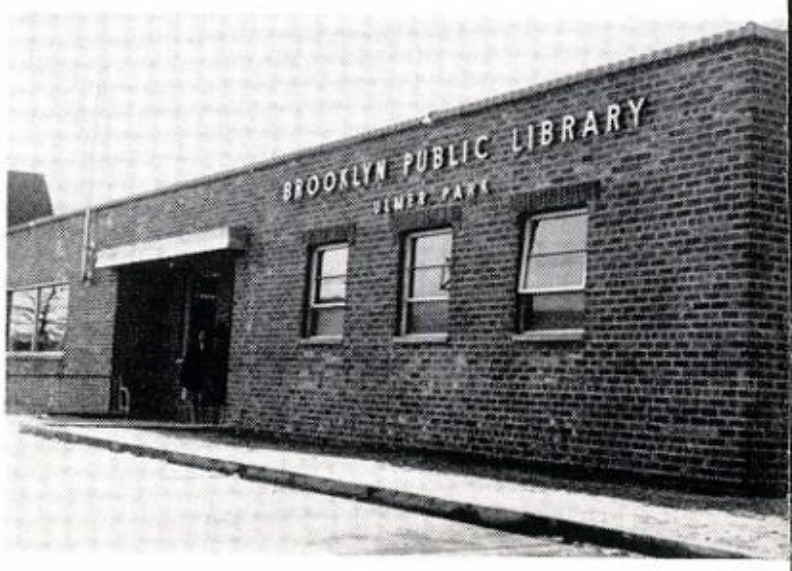
Students of 1941 showed their admiration for simple, country styles in their famous PTA Barn Dance, while Lafayette Seniors displayed similar tastes in their 1964 Hootenanny. (Although such contemporary stars as Peter, Paul, and Mary could not be present, Lafayette music-lovers used their ingenuity and such stars as Susan, Vicki, and Jonny appeared.)

1946 marked the initiation of a non-coed cafeteria system. The class of '64 did not pursue this policy and actually reversed the idea when, in 1962, Dance Gym "went coed." 1964 was the year that politics went more coed than ever before as Margaret Chase Smith announced that she would be a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination.

1950 marked a year of economic crisis in New York City schools. At Lafayette, all extra-curricular activities came to a halt as teachers called for higher salaries. The class of 1964 witnessed another such crisis when, in 1962, teachers struck for higher wages and improved school conditions. There were no extra-curricular activities, but there was no school either.



1954 was a year of three great "firsts." The first annual Sing was held and it was greeted with so much enthusiasm that Sing has become a tradition at Lafayette. Another first was the publication of the Lafayette Guide, which has continued to plague practical joke-playing Seniors in its negligence in omitting all mention of the Lafayette swimming pool. Still another first was the Book Fair. Seniors of '64 feel that they have benefited from the first "first," suffered from the second, and improved upon the last. Now, Lafayette no longer has to depend upon the Book Fair as a sole means of obtaining the latest books. 1964 saw the completion of the new branch of the Brooklyn Public Library, located just one block from the school. Ripples of discontent are slightly audible from late session pupils who have no excuse for not completing research assignments . . . .



In the area of fashions, the chemise style became the rage of Lafayette in 1958. The shift dress, a beltless style dominating '64 fashions, is a direct descendant of the "rage of '58."

New York was the site of the 1939 World's Fair, and countless Lafayette students must have scrimped for weeks to view the great spectacle. The class of '64 was also privileged when the 1964 World's Fair opened in New York. (We're quite sure that proximity to Lafayette was a major consideration in the choosing of the site in both '39 and '64.)

Who says that history doesn't repeat itself? Through 25 years, two wars, many innovations, five wonderful principals, and high intellectual and moral values, thousands of students will remember Lafayette and, reminiscing over the LEGEND, will repeat the name of the school with a certain inflection, a certain far away, fantasy-like tone, which will express all the milestones, triumphs, and ideals of the crucial four years which every Lafayette graduate has experienced.

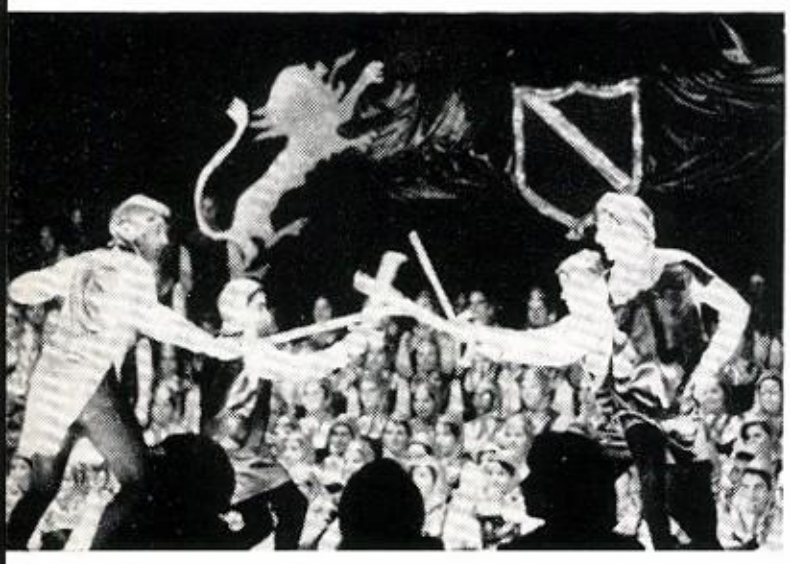
Ode to Sing

Sing is wanting very badly.
Sing is the near fatal blunder at each performance.
Sing is glitter on necks and faces. . . .

. . . .Sing is the chorus doing the mambo behind the curtains.
Sing is getting dressed at five for a performance at ten.

. . . .Sing is the crowd at Jahn's.
Sing is losing half a costume on Sing night.
Sing is the fall term. . . .

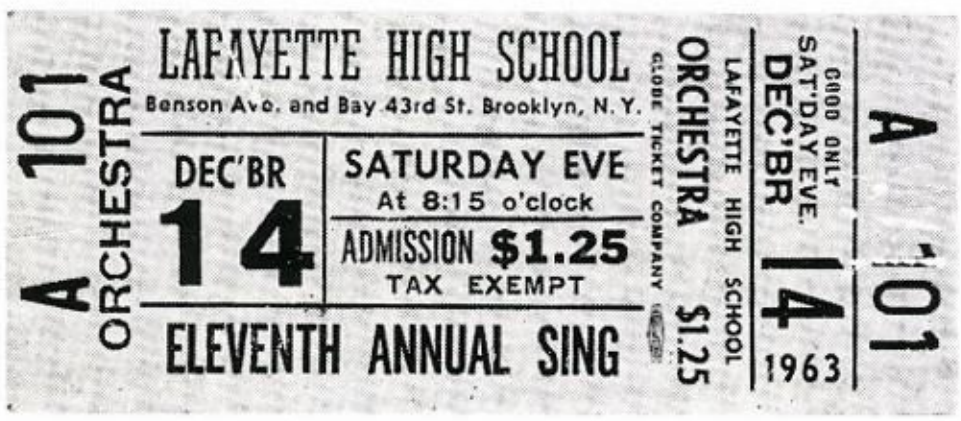
. . . .Sing is 6 chorus members and 5 safety pins.
Sing is 400 cases of laryngitis. . . .



. . . .Sing is the chorus crying during the alma mater.
Sing is Saturday's march into the boys' gym singing the victory song. . . .

. . . .Sing is pretzels for supper.
Sing is 3 script changes for 3 nights.
Sing is eleven o'clock meetings until twelve. . . .

. . . .Sing is the precious little red ticket.
Sing is three years of work, of fun, of tears, and of triumph at last.



Ode to the Marquis

Dawn in a Red Coffee Cup

In the dark white blackness of the night,
When ostriches serenade octopi,
I am alone.
I feel the heavy lead weight of my tears
As they crash to my feet,
And I feel dead because
My admirer turned into
A bottle of ginger-ale.

Obscurity

Endless
Without end,
Electric blender minuteness,
Expanding to infinity:
Nothing.

Meaningless
Without meaning,
Cold chicken ideals
Flimsy and amorphous:
This.

Dear Graduates,

Amidst this glittering, glamorous silver anniversary, we must also give serious thought to our future goals—goals which will enable us to bestow as much happiness upon others as we hope to receive ourselves. Silver is not merely showy and transient; it is a solid, permanent metal, a metal which glows from within. Let us hope that the light of this silver anniversary is reflected within each one of us so that we may mature and so preserve the glow as individuals.

Sincerely,

Sports

This year, 1964, marks the twenty-fifth year of the existence of Lafayette High School. During this time, the school has excelled in all fields: scholarship, service, character, and sports. From SANDY KOUFAX through PETE MARAIA and LES PINES, Lafayette students have stood out in the sports world. The class of '64 has its fair share of athletes, too.

Our Division Championship Basketball Team carried the Maroon-and-White Banner under the leadership of GIL FERSHTMAN again this year. Our cheers still ring out for GARY FASS, LES PINES, BARRY EAGLE, and the rest.

Gridiron prospects for the Frenchies' team under KEN HERRNSON and MIKE OSHAN have shone this year. All-City PETE MARAIA and MATTY LUCA, JACK LA FORTE, DENNIS OTTOCHIAN, and the rest of our staunch football team played for the best record in years.

FRANK RABINOWITZ and the Soccer Team have again achieved the Divisional Championship. SAL SHIETO, LAWRENCE GAMBELLA, and ANGELO TARGES have, with fine teamwork and team spirit, made this a reality.

With BOB WILLIAMS, BOB MULTARI, MIKE ABATEMARCO, and PAUL PUCCIARELLI, Baseball Coach ED MITKO has high hopes for our team. The team is set for a reach at the City Championship for the season.

1959 Alumnus of Lafayette, GARY LASKER, feels that the great potential of NICK PIAZZA, ROBERT FIZZUGLIO, TONY PASTERINO, and others will aid the Gym Team to achieve new and greater heights.

On the Tennis Court, acording to Coach EMANUEL BLANK, RICKY SKLAR and ROBERT DUBLIN should lead the team to as good a season this year as last year.

With the Olympic possibilities of STEVE KAMINSKY, and the outstanding teamwork of SAL CANALE, FRANK COPPA, IRVING GOTTESMAN, MICHAEL HEIT, PETE MARAIA (of football note), HOWARD MANKES, JOHN NAVARRO, and their mates, Coach PAUL FRIEDMAN predicts a District Championship for the Maroon-and-White Track Team this season.

At this point in the season, Health Education Chairman DAVE HALPERIN'S Handball Team is working its way from its District Championship towards the City Championships. The agility and teamwork on the courts of STUART KAPLAN, JACK PATWICK, PETE ACCURSO, and the rest of the team have certainly paid off.

Victories in abundance were promised by Coach MARTIN ALWEISS and the Bowling Team, with CARL DE VITO and JOEL CUTLER leading the team.

MIKE VOLPE, JOHN LANGSEDER, MARK RENARD, and BERNARD YACKOW were strong assets for PHILIP GOLDSTEIN'S golfers as they played a fine season.

From Basketball to Tennis, from Track to Football, and don't forget Bowling, Lafayette's athletes in 1964 have turned in an outstanding sports record in all areas. They have contributed something more than a fine sports record; dedication and sportsmanship, too, were among their contributions. We, who are among the graduates marking Lafayette's twenty-fifth year, salute our warriors on the playing fields and courts for their achievements and their fine character.

Last Will and Testament

We, the class of 1964, do hereby bequeath:

To Dr. Weitz—many more successful and rewarding years at Lafayette.

To Mr. Rogoff—10 shares of XYZ Notebook Company.

To Dr. Groisser—more students to buy his review book.

To Mr. Hankin—something at a later date.

To the Math Team—a snowplow.

To Miss Coniglio—half a blackboard.

To Mr. Kaufman—a little more decorum.

To Mrs. Warshaw—a baby bottle.

To Mr. Berman—a Good Guy sweatshirt.

To Mr. Fuhr—the ideal woman.

To Mr. Friedman—a megaphone.

To Mr. Seuling—more seniors to help him decorate his Christmas tree.

To our football team—our congratulations for a job well done.

To all the ambitious planners—long live the new wardrobe system.

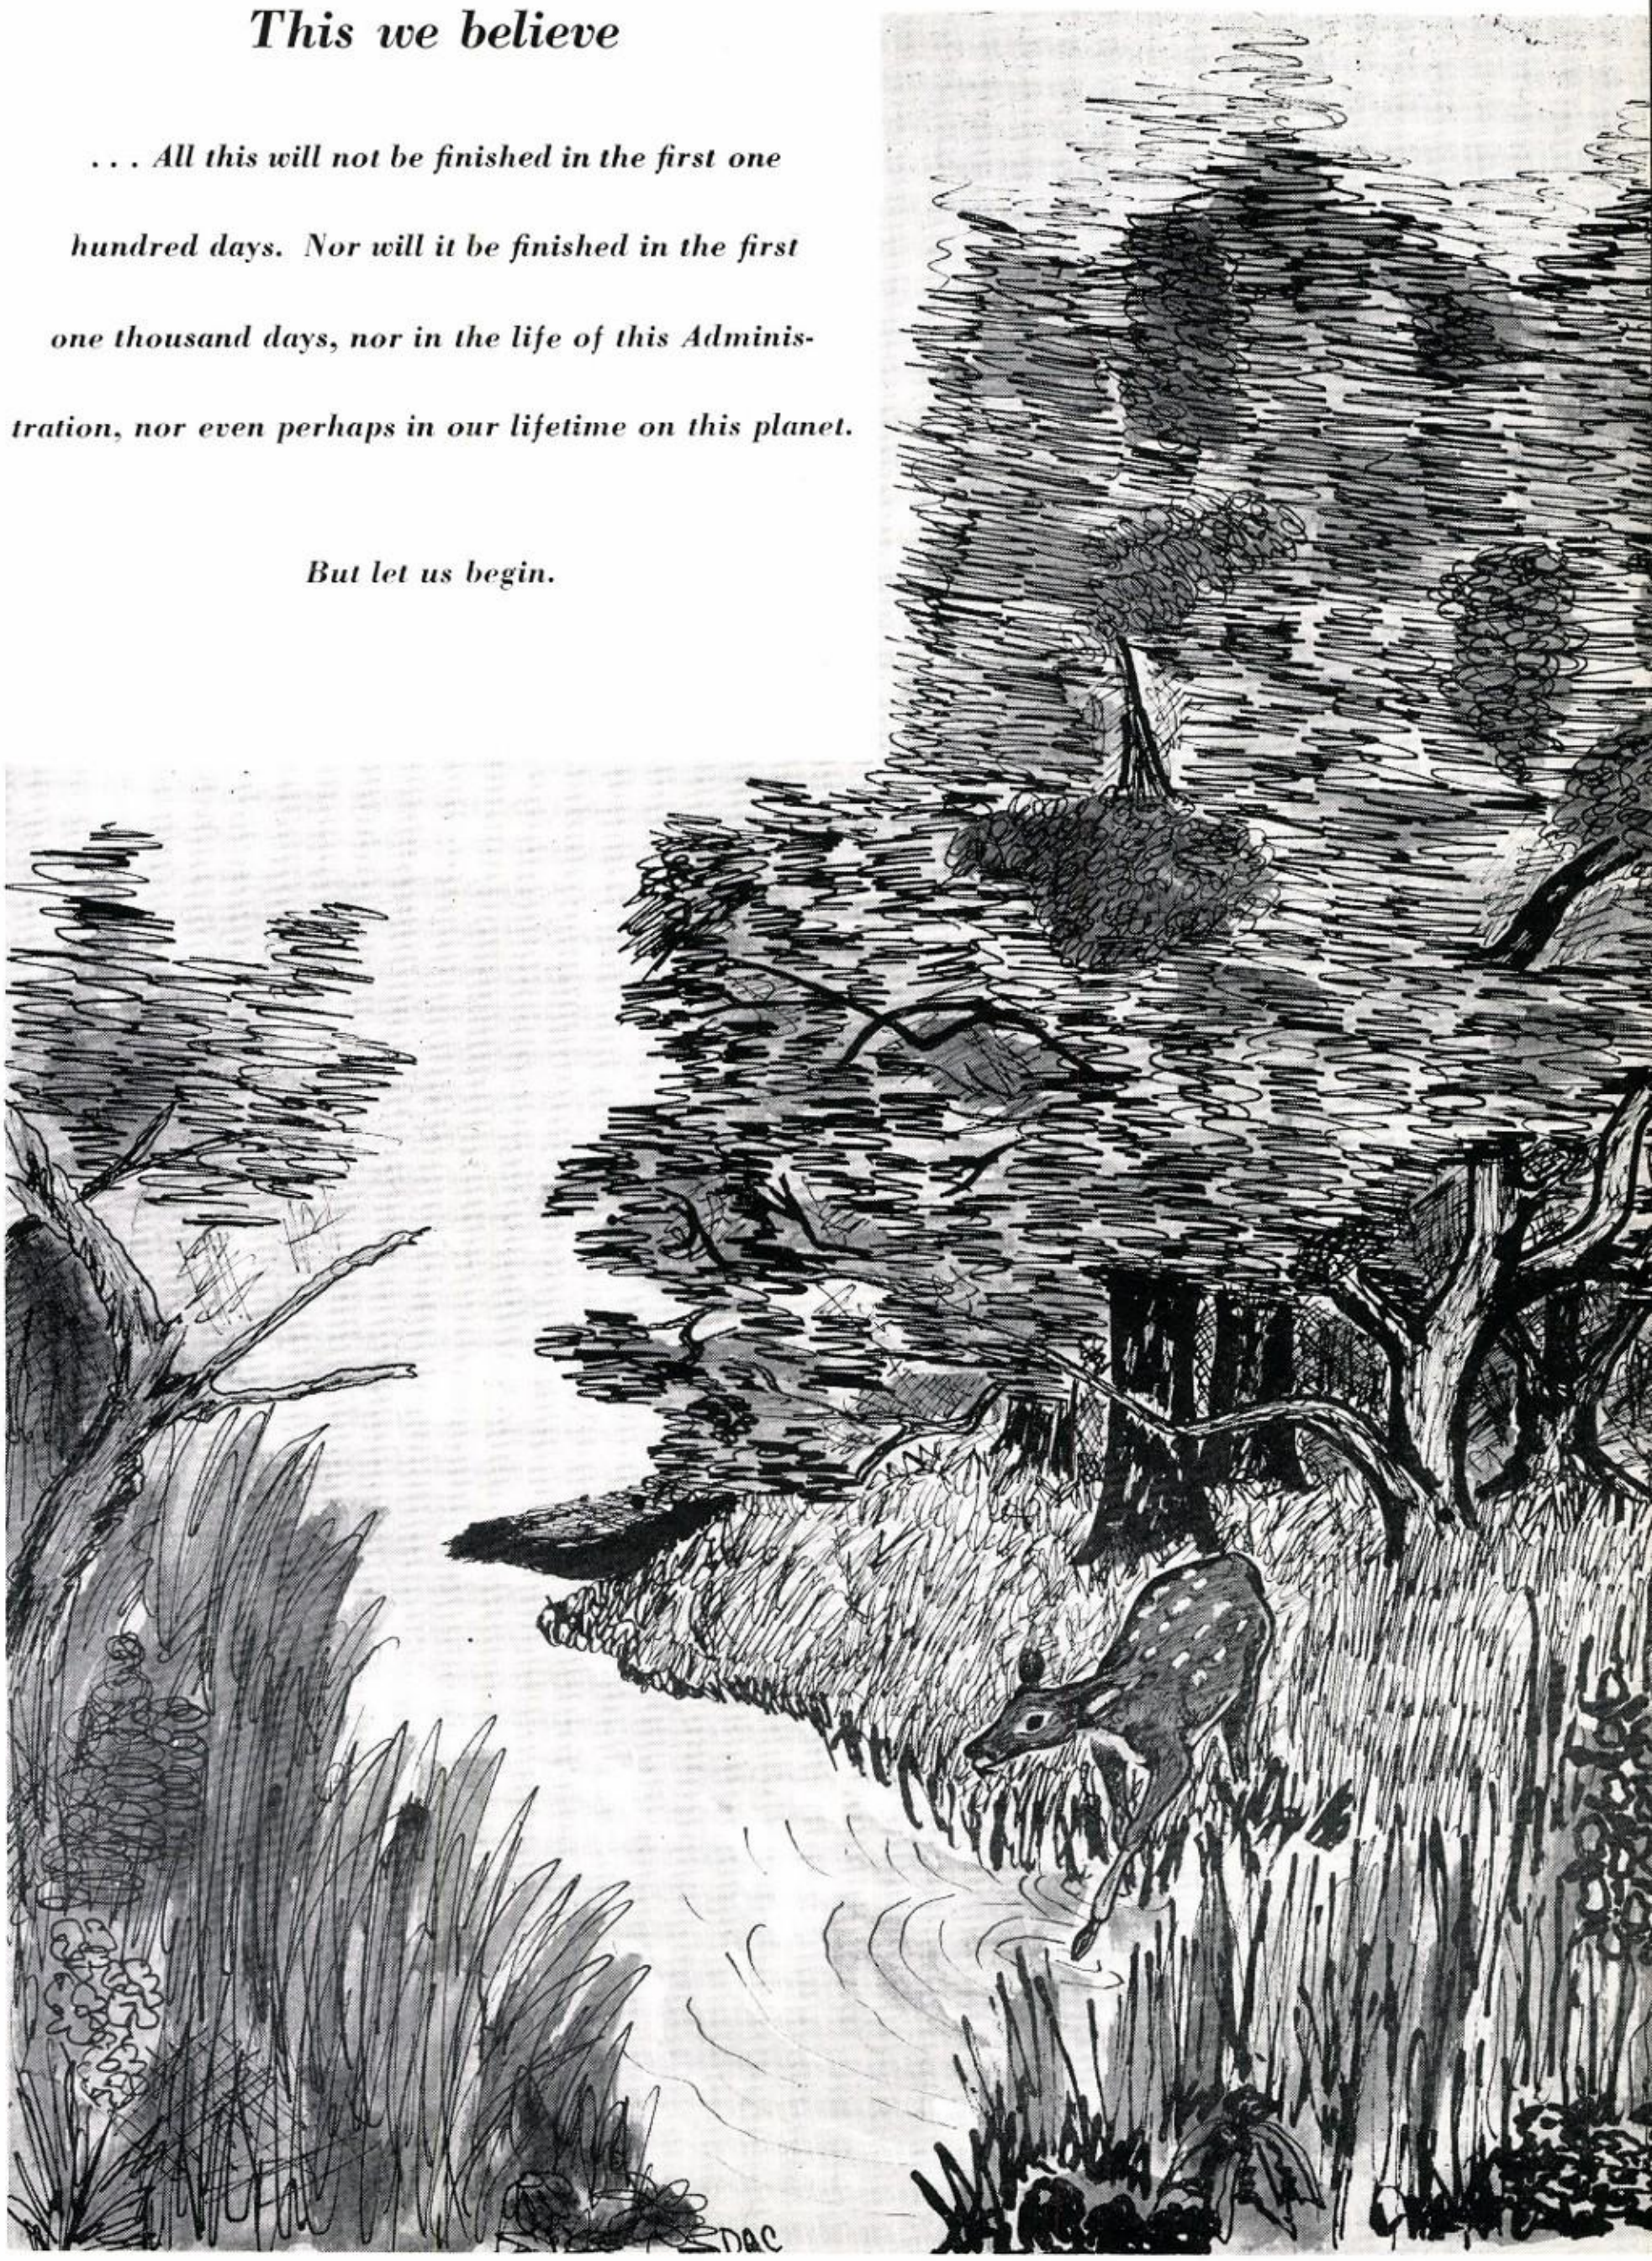
To the juniors—may their Senior Sing deserve to win next year, as our did this year.

To Lafayette—we leave 1,724 thank you's.

This we believe

. . . All this will not be finished in the first one hundred days. Nor will it be finished in the first one thousand days, nor in the life of this Administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet.

But let us begin.



Autographs

Dear Ronald:

Your mature intelligence, keen wit and inquiring mind helped to make Eng 8 H a scintillating & "swinging" class!

Best wishes for a healthy, happy future.

Fondly,
